Revised for the new Victorian Curriculum, the Second edition offers a uniquely Victorian perspective, based on the most current information available on economic and political systems in today's local, national and global landscapes.

New case studies and media articles support student learning with relevant and interesting examples from Victoria and beyond, including COVID-19, ChatGPT, the Teal independent candidates in the 2022 federal election and how Melbourne croissanterie, Lune, went cashless.

A diverse range of revision, research and collaboration activities ensure students understand the basic concepts, can apply reasoning and interpretation skills, and are fully prepared to study commerce at a senior level.

Revision of relevant material covered in earlier year levels consolidates and contextualises new content. Regular quiz and review questions help students check their recall and understanding, while the end of chapter 'Consolidate your Learning' activities engage with the topic more broadly.

The Interactive Textbook engages students through rich media, interactive activities, and a competition-based Scorcher quiz.

Cambridge Senior Maths: Foundation Maths VCE Units 3&4

$79.95 Print + Digital

These accessible new books provide a wholly context-based approach to teaching and learning maths. Created by authors with a strong understanding of the needs of this cohort and the pedagogical advantage for using real world contexts, students are encouraged to identify and connect maths to their lives. A range of investigations and practical hands-on activities explicitly draws on the problem-solving cycle helping students see maths as a tool to solve everyday problems. Modern technology is incorporated through the use of spreadsheets, apps, calculators and graphing tools as solutions to problems they may face in the workplace or life. The Interactive Textbook offers students workspaces and self-assessment tools, videos for a selection of worked examples, auto-marked quizzes, Desmos interactives, and a range of downloadable activities to give them the best support for VCE Foundation Mathematics success.

The wholly context-based maths content gives students a new insight into how to identify the maths in everyday situations and use it to solve problems. The wide range of real world contexts reflects the diverse interests of Victorian students and reveals profiles of different career paths that require everyday maths.

- Investigations, practical hands-on activities and the wide-variety of applied tasks explicitly draw on the problem-solving cycle, helping students see maths as a tool that can be used to solve problems in life and work.
- Spreadsheets, phone apps, physical and online calculators, and graphing tools are introduced and used as they would be in life or the workplace, and students are encouraged to use the internet to find appropriate tools to solve problems.
- Topics are carefully sequenced with explicit demonstration (and repetition) of maths skills and students can check they have mastered the topic through the bookending of learning intentions and success criteria (with example questions).
- The careful scaffolding of learning to achieve the best maths literacy outcomes for all students is supported by a range of literacy activities, a glossary of mathematics terms and visual representations of maths concepts as much as possible.
